Miss Emery has arranged a well planned program for the cooking school. Not only are there new recipes but some time-saving methods on the old ones. There are many other ideas that will be explained and best of all Miss Emery presents each person with a folder of tested recipes so that she too may get the same results.

All the dishes cooked by Miss Emery will be awarded to the women present as prizes. In addition there will be given away each day fifteen baskets of groceries, etc., also ten electric wall lights. Mr. Ripley has also contributed one of his fine Northfield rugs to be given away each afternoon. Arrange to attend the sessions of the cooking school and invite your friends to come along. There is no admission charge. Remember the days, next Thursday and Friday at the town hall.

Holton Family Reunion Was In Session Here

The ninth reunion of the Holton family association was held at the Northfield Hotel last Friday and Saturday with 60 members in attendance. Ernest H. Holton of Brooklyn presided over the business session Saturday morning for the association, which dates back to Deacon William Holton, born in 1610, a settler of both Hartford and Northampton.

A feature of the meeting was the dedication of the boulder that marks the grave of the founder of the family in America. This boulder is located in the Bridge street cemetery at Northampton. Upon it is engraved the following: "Deacon William Holton, born 1610—died Aug. 2, 1691. Mary, his wife, died Nov. 16, 1691. Erected by the Holton Family Association 1938."

Reports were made at the business meeting in the morning by the following officers: secretary Elsie F. Packer; A. Gordon Moody treasurer; Harriet Scofield, generalist; George Alanson Holton, vice president; and Albert G. Moody, vice president. Other committees reporting were program, membership and organization. It was stated that 175 members comprise the organization, 19 having joined the past year.

Mrs. Ella Alexander, 93, was voted a life honorary membership, she being the oldest active member. A resolution of thanks for his service as president for the past four years was made to Ernest H. Holton.

Arthur P. Fitt, son-in-law of Dwight L. Moody, noted evangelist, stated that plans were under way for the formation of a Moody association, which would date back to John Moody, who came to Hartford and settled in 1633.

The election of officers for the next two years resulted as follows: President, Major Herbert M. Holton, New York City; vice-president, Holton Smith of Roslindale; vice-president, C. Leonard Holton of Raynham; secretary, Elsie Packer of Hartford; treasurer, A. Gordon Moody, Northfield; generalist, Harriet Scofield, Cleveland; executive committee, Ernest H. Holton, Brooklyn; Ruth Sanstrom, New York; Mrs. John Rice, Gettysburg Pa.; Adolphus Holton, Norwood; Chandler Holton, Dr. Purrington and H. F. Holton.

H. E. Doolittle of Tamaroa, Ill. is visiting his brother, Fred H. Doolittle of Ashuelot road.

Mrs. Mable Makepeace and her sister, Miss Kiblin, accompanied by Miss Ethel Sweetser and Frank Gaylor of Springfield are spending a two weeks vacation at a cottage on the Connecticut shore of Long Island Sound.

A Fine Exhibition Promised At Greenfield County Fair Entrees Guarantee Success

The county fair of the Franklin County Agricultural society at the fairgrounds in Greenfield, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 11, 12, and 13, promises to eclipse those held in previous years. The demand for the premium list is the heaviest in the history of the fair and the advance sale of season tickets has been unusually successful. In Northfield these tickets have been sold by Samuel Truesdell and Arthur H. Bolton. The big county school meet will be held on Wednesday. Races will be run on Tuesday and Wednesday. The feature of the Wednesday card will be the Nassau two-year-old trot. This race, which will attract a field of starters from New York state is one of the outstanding colt events in the east and is carried on the card as a feature race at both Rutland and the Eastern States Exposition. It is said that prospects for the showing of the cattle class was especially good and that several herd entries had been received. Many applications had been received for the showing of out-of-state herds, enroute to the showing at the Springfield fair, but inasmuch the Franklin County Fair was primarily designed for the agricultural advancement of Franklin county, therefore, county farms should receive first opportunity to enter their cattle.

Eastman - Alexander Sage Chapel Wedding

Miss Genevieve Baright Alexander, daughter of Mrs. Leon R. Alexander, of Hinsdale road and Hubert Jesse Eastman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Eastman of Woodville, N. H. were married in a beautiful but simple service in Sage chapel, on the seminary campus, last Saturday afternoon by the Rev. W. Stanley Carne of the local Congregational church. The single ring service was used. The bride was given away by her uncle, N. Dwight Alexander of Springfield. The bride wore a princess gown of white cut velvet and a finger-tip veil with coronet caught with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white roses and gardenias. The maid of honor, who was Miss Ruth Elise Ruhl, of this town, wore a gown of pink taffeta with a floral figure and she carried a bouquet of pink asters, tied with Nile green ribbon. The best man was Wilbur F. Eastman, a cousin of the groom. The chapel was decorated with hydrangea and red phlox. After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride, for the relatives. After a wedding trip about New York state, the young couple will take up their residence in East Northfield. Among those present from out of town, were, Miss Lillian E. Alexander of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. N. Dwight Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Tolman and daughter, Betty Lee, and Miss Marjorie Goodnow, all of Springfield. Mr. and Mrs. John E. It is reported that the seniors of the high school netted the sum of $46 from their recent food sale. A good lift toward their Washington trip expense fund.

vancement of Franklin county, therefore, county farms should receive first opportunity to enter their cattle.

Additional bleachers will be installed at the draft horse and draft oxen ring to accommodate those who wish to witness this increasingly popular feature.

Exhibits of horses, poultry, pigs, sheep, dogs and cats, will exceed that of former years from present prospects. The grounds are now in readiness, with hurricane damages removed, buildings repaired and some repainted. Comfort stations have been placed in several locations. The Grange exhibits, in which the Northfield Grange will participate will be numerous and fine displays are promised. The Junior exhibition is showing a very lively interest. The 4-H club groups of the county are planning floats for the parade and the handicraft and horticultural exhibits will be unusually outstanding.

Six feature acts of all-star vaudeville, preceded by a band concert and followed by a display of fireworks are announced. Coleman Bros show will be an attraction on the midway, already crowded with many features. Make your arrangements to attend the County Fair.

Rev. and Mrs. Carne Have Anniversary Are Given A Party

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the wedding of Rev. and Mrs. W. Stanley Carne was observed by their friends last Friday evening when a considerable number called at their new home on Highland avenue to extend them, their best wishes and congratulations. Quite recently the Carnes moved from the Pattison house on Birnam road to the Proctor residence on Highland avenue, which they have leased. An impromptu reception was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Carne and a musical program was rendered, in which Irving J. Lawrence and Mrs. Donald Williams sang and Miss Durgin gave violin solos. Flowers were in profusion. A silver tea set was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Carne, in the sugar bowl of which was $44 in 25 cent pieces, in a presentation speech made by Rev. David Tomkins.

The Carnes were married in Harrison, Me. on Sept. 1, 1914, by Rev. Dr. David N. Beach, president of the Bangor seminary. Immediately after their marriage they crossed the continent and settled in the state of Washington. Mr. Carne held parishes in Spokane and Seattle.

The Carnes with the two eldest children, Homer and Harlene, returned to Maine in 1919 when Mr. Carne received a call to the Congregational church in Gorham. Here their two youngest children, Lloyd and Margaret, were born. This pastorate was held for 13 years, when a little over seven years ago Mr. Carne accepted a call to the pastorate of the local Congregational church, where he is now serving.

Hostelers Return

Mr. Kauffhold led a pioneer group on a cycle trip through Mexico, following the ocean voyage from New York to Galveston. Mr. Kauffhold, an experienced European hosteler, said that the mountainous country of Mexico compares most favorably with that of Switzerland, Norway and Sweden. "The Mexican people were very friendly, they showed great interest in hosting," he said.

THE ROAD OF TOMORROW

Its route no guidebook may disclose,
Its hills or its descending,
Its sudden curves no driver knows,
Nor has one marked its ending;
And yet we know its unknown way
Begins where ends the road today.

Although tomorrow's road leads far
Each day sees it diminish
And nearer to its end we are
As each day's run we finish,
Nor can we halt along the way
Nor journey back to find today.

And of the ones with whom we go
First one and then a second
Must leave the road to answer slow
The Master who has beckoned.
But we must still drive on and on—
Until at last we drive alone.

Tomorrow's road leads through fair lanes,
And less each holds of sorrow,
And blest are we who add the gains
For those who drive tomorrow;
For they shall find a smoother way
Because we drove so well today.

—W. A. S. from Ford News, August, 1939.

Lets Hope They're Safe

Several Northfield people are in the zones of war and friends are somewhat worried as to their plans for returning. Many steamship lines have cancelled their sailings and some dare not operate. All Americans are ordered to return home but thousands await a passage to the United States. Dr. and Mrs. Cutler have been living for a long time in Vienna. Prof. and Mrs. H. H. A REAL PAPER — THE PRESS

What About May Flies That We Gathered Up

Most of us in Northfield will recall that about a month or so ago we noticed an avalanche of little white flies come like falling snow for some time on different evenings. They were attracted by bright lights and where an electric light remained on all evening, there the following morning the tiny insects could be swept up in quantities. While the tiny flies were everywhere, a particular place that was observed was at the rear of the East Northfield post office. Here a bright light which always burns all night, brought an accumulation of a half peck or so in the morning. The Press commented at the time but it remained for Miss Louise Roe of this town to do some investigating. She sent samples to Prof. A. I. Bourne, of the research department of entomology at State college at Amherst, together with a statement of fact, and this is what he has to say. We quote:

"The insects accompanying your letter of the 11th prove to be specimens of the group of May-flies. These are rather primitive insects of aquatic habits, the larvae of which develop in streams and other bodies of water. The adults often occur in swarms, appearing from time to time during the summer, and since they are attracted toward lights, may often be encountered literally in clouds. We have had one or two visitations here in this section of the valley this summer, particularly in towns close to the river. On evenings when there was a heavy flight of May-flies, the insects were filling the air in such numbers that it resembled a light snow squall. Our observations have been made along the roads in Hadley, Northampton, and Hatfield.

The scientific name, Ephemera, is supposed to have been given the insects because of the fact that the adult life of different species of the group is very short, the insects appearing toward evening and the dead insects being found in swarms the next morning. Apparently their sole function in the adult stage is to mate and make provision for future generations. The insects are of interest mainly to naturalists, because they are rather primitive, and have very little if any economic value. Since they are more or less scavengers in their feeding habits, any influence which they would have, would be more beneficial than otherwise."

Grange Notes

Northfield Grange will meet Tuesday evening, Sept. 12. Each lady is asked to bring a covered dish as refreshments and tell how it was made.

The local Grange will neighbor with Newfane, Vt. Grange, Wednesday, Sept. 13 and furnish a program.

Connecticut Valley Pomona Grange will meet in the Grange hall at Greenfield Thursday, Sept. 14, instead of the regular night, because of the Greenfield Fair. Supper will be served at 7 p. m. by members of Guiding Star Grange.

Outstanding Cast

Heralded as one of the most unusual films ever to come out of Hollywood, "The Women," with an all-star cast of 135 actresses headed by Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford and Rosalind Russell, opens at the Latchis Memorial theatre, Brattleboro, Sunday where it will play four days.

The story, based upon Clare Boothe's Broadway stage success of the same name, weaves the everyday experiences of women into an exciting comedy-drama into which laughs and tears are skillfully blended. Ultra-modern settings, smart clothes and a fashion parade in technicolor add eye-filling beauty as a background to the dialogue.

The story centers about Norma Shearer as a woman whose happiness and home are temporarily wrecked by gossip and her fight to regain the life that had been snatched from her.

The Northfield baseball team was defeated Monday on the high school grounds by the Smith Diners team of Greenfield in a score of 4-0.

An Editor Writes Of A Newspaperless Town

The editor of the Wareham (Mass.) Courier writes a most interesting article in his paper, which has been reprinted often in the papers recently. We give it in full here:

We have often tried to imagine what a town would be like which is so blind to community interests as to be indifferent in its support of a local newspaper. The newspaperless town indicates that it is either too small to be of much business importance, or that its citizens are without business enterprise or civic pride. The very absence of a local newspaper in any town of suitable size indicates that it lacks enterprise, energy or civic character.

Such a town would advertise to the world that it did not think much of itself and didn't care what others thought of it. The very fact that no one published a newspaper in it would prove conclusively that it did not merit one, and that its business concerns were unprogressive and therefore unworthy of patronage. Every worthwhile town has a local newspaper.

The greatest business builder is advertising and the failure to seek business by advertising stamps any concern as lacking in initiative and indifferent to progress.

The lack of subscription support such as would make a newspaper unprofitable shows that either the paper itself lacks reader interest or that the people of the community are incapable of appreciating it.

Either way the result is the same. The newspaperless town passes unnoticed and cannot expect to be known to the world as anything but a backward community and a place where people live, but do not thrive.

WHERE NOW, LITTLE MAN?

Where do you go, strange little man,
 On this smiling August day?
 Are you led by a sword, proud, little man,
 Do you follow your chosen way?

Who mapped your route, brave, little man,
 Can you see around the bend?
 Where will your bivouac be to-night
 After your journey's end.

It is you, as men, blind, little man
 To choose, and you alone,
 Whether you follow a blood-red road
 That leads from a tyrant's throne.

Or walk life's path, sad, little man
 As a brother and a friend,
 The way walked by The Gentle One
 With peace at journey's end.

Where do you go, lone, little man
 Be you yellow or black or white,
 Where leads the road you tread today,
 Where do you rest tonight?

J. P. from Brattleboro (Vt.) Reformer.

More In Detail Franklin County Fair

Celebrating its 90th anniversary the Franklin County Fair opens next Monday night at Greenfield with the largest number of entries ever received in all classes. The advance sale of tickets indicates that all attendance records for the Fair, which will continue from Monday thru Wednesday, will be broken.

This year's 90th anniversary celebration will feature a full program of light harness racing. Entries received indicate a fast field of starters in every event. There will be four races on both Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon. Tuesday's program includes the 2:13 trot, 2:17 trot, 2:20 pace and the free for all pace. Wednesday afternoon will feature the Nassau two-year-old trot, 2:13 pace, 2:17 pace and 2:22 trot. Each race will be run three straight heats.

The opening feature of the Fair will be staged at 7 o'clock, Monday evening, when a special concert by the Greenfield Military Band will open a vaudeville program of six mammoth acts led by the sensational Albanis. This terrifying thriller presents, at one and the same time, death defying whirling track stunts performed on a motorcycle high in the air surmounted by a revolving trapeze and topped with a high pole upon which the five members of the troupe present the latest European aerial innovations. Supporting this feature attraction will be seen Torelli's Circus, a swift paced aggregation of domestic and jungle charges in a new and modern animal pagentry. Ledoux & Louise will present a thrilling, graceful exhibition of skill on the slack wire. Marie Correlli & Co. will give a demonstration of weight lifting and extend a cordial invitation to any members of the audience to duplicate the feats of strength which they accomplish. Plenty of comedy is promised in the vaudeville program by the Gladstones, famous clowns and Ed's comedy mule which knows more than some men.

The cattle barns will be taxed to capacity with a fine showing of the best breeds in this section. Every inch of space has been taken for the displays of fruits, vegetables, canned products and homecraft exhibits.

This year, the midway which has always been famous for its variety of games, rides and shows will contain many new and novel features designed to provide clean wholesome fun for young and old. New bleachers have been erected at the horse and steer drawing ring. It will be recalled that a world's record was established last year in the horse drawing contest and there is much speculation as to whether or not further records will be established this season. The poultry show and 4-H exhibits will be outstanding.

The program for Monday will find everything in readiness when the gates open at 4 p. m. The band concert and free vaudeville show will be concluded with an augmented display of fireworks which promises to be the most spectacular pyrotechnic display ever presented by the Fair.

The program for Tuesday will include four light harness races, drawing contest for cattle, judging of livestock and other exhibits. The entertainment program in the evening will be identical with that presented on Monday, including another huge fireworks display.

Wednesday has been designated as Junior Day and in addition to four light harness races and championship horseshoe pitching tournaments will feature a county-wide interscholastic athletic meet in the morning, junior judging contests, 4-H club parade and the weight drawing contest for horses.

Every facility for the comfort of visitors to the fair has been provided and extensive parking areas have been set aside to accommodate thousands of cars.

Completely overshadowing everything else in radio news of the war crisis abroad has disrupted schedules, has caused commotion in studios, and has kept staffs on duty 24 hours daily to see that listeners get information of critical events as quickly as they happen. Fans twisting their dials keep changing stations, not to listen to music or hear vocalists, but only to squeeze out more loudspeaker news of a possible world conflagration. Programs which have been "musts" all give way to the more important bulletins that listeners await.

Fans who listen at home during the wee hours of morning used to be legion when one-tubers were the fashion more than a decade ago. But radio is almost back to that stage with families huddled around loudspeakers while networks and independent stations broadcast day and night without any regard for time. We've seen people carrying those portable sets in subways and in office buildings; we've seen conferences stopped and radios tuned in; and we, too, have slept with a radio at our side.

In back of all the news, however, there are those excellent American newspaper reporters who know how to handle their job; and because of their superb ability they get European information over here so quickly. The amazing part of this whole situation is because of censorship residents in France, Germany and England keep tuning to our stations to determine what is occurring in their own lands. And this, in itself, is a tribute to American journalism and American radio!

CHATTER. Bob Benchley's show will resume over WHN early in October... preview trailers of motion pictures are now being shown via NBC television... Jerry Livingstone will call his outfit Young Men of Manhattan when he starts his CBS broadcasts from Mother Kelly's... MBS has already set 144 stations to carry its exclusive World Series broadcasts... tune your dial to ten-ten if you want to hear Pepper Black and Ginger Lane... they're sparkling singers... announcer Lewis Charles is celebrating his fifth year on the air... if you like Nano Rodrigo's Cuban music over NBC you should watch him during the swell show at the Havana-Madrid... Fibber McGee and Molly are back on WEAF... Jimmy Winchester, the former sports announcer, is in N. Y. after a year in California.

When visiting New York drop in to watch Judy Chandler's broadcasts from atop the Empire State Tower... they are aired at 12:30 daily over WHN... Enoch Light listening to the Salzburg program heard the same selections he played there just ten years ago... Lanny Grey whose rhythm school is heard on NBC is an Enoch Light look alike... that Music to Read By show is so popular a local hotel had to switch programs for it for their program on the Aldrich Family will be aired at another time when it make* way for Jack Benny sales of those portable sets have soared since the European crisis.

STORY OF THE WEEK. George Combs, commenting on the foreign situation over WHN, said that 100 million radio listeners in America and approximately the same number abroad have lost 3 hours each listening to their loudspeakers; and 5 million reservists have lost about 500 million hours. Since this has been going on for ten days, the world has wasted approximately 1,100,000,000 hours of time. "Then," added Combs, "Herr Hitler asks us to feel sorry for him because he lost three hours sleep."

EDITORIAL

Early this week a thunder clap has come out of Europe. A man whose ideology was his sacred stick as he climbed his path to glory and a career, among his people, now stands condemned before a world of reasonable thinkers as a bloody idiot, reeking with the slime of dishonor, embroiled in lies, and not worthy of any trust or confidence. An oppressor, filled with hatred, without compassion or sympathy. Such an individual will soon face his own doom. Lacking both head and heart, time will bring to this little fellow, his own undoing.

The nation has taken a stand for neutrality. We want no war and it well might be said that no peoples want war, even those who now find themselves in it. But if I interpret neutrality, it means justice to all concerned. There is no justice in our neutrality as now enforced. Because war was not declared by Japan in its quarrel with China, we permitted Japan to buy all the "scrap" she needed to provide the cannon fodder to kill poor John Chinaman, while we prayed for John's salvation. And now in the hope of sustaining and establishing democracies, a government of and by the people, we deny the sustenance to others of our kind and grant courage and satisfaction to the leaders of dictatorial realms, whose ambition might well be to destroy us. In other words such a policy is not justice. Shall we deny to France and England that moral support so much needed, which by our very act, gives aid and succor to the oppressor? Neutrality is a fine thing, but neutrality must come only after justice has first been done.

Admiral Byrd explained to a group of newspaper men in Washington the other day that the North Pole is covered with ice over a thousand feet of water, and that the Antarctic, or South Pole, is covered with mountains reaching a thousand feet, and more, above the sea level. A part of the Antarctic lies in the Western Hemisphere and is less than 500 miles from South America. Petrified trees and inexhaustible coal deposits prove, according to Byrd, that the South Pole was at one time a region where things grew. Sometime, he says, it may again be a land that is settled. In the far-ahead future the Antarctic may be an important frontier. However the average newspaper man, like all our peoples cares little for the sea or mountains of ice, and questions. The best that can be said for it, is that it provides good publicity stunts.
